Dear Mr. Wood;

In compliance with your request at our meeting on Monday we have made careful estimate of the cost of printing editions of 10 plates of coins and beg to advise as follows. We would print the eight plates in two sheets of four and the two other plates by themselves - page size $8\frac{1}{4} \times 11$ - paper to be similar to that previously used = $22 \times 28-75$ - prints to be delivered untraced to the J. R. Marine Co. - price for 650 copies each $\$36.00$ per plate - total $\$360.00$ or for 700 copies each $\$37.50$ per plate total $\$375.00$

Awaiting your further commands and noting that you did not have longer time here in Boston I remain

Very truly yours

Dear Mr. Wood:

We have made an estimate for printing 775 copies each of two plates of coins on same quality and weight of paper as the previous lot and beg to quote price of fifty two and one half dollars per plate making one hundred and five dollars ($105.00) for the two.

If you had four plates, or multiples of four, the price would be less as our presses work most economically on that basis.

Awaiting your further commands we remain

Gentlemen:

We are in receipt of proofs of the two plates you are making for us. These are fairly satisfactory. Our only comment is that they look a little too flat. I think this is more or less a matter of lighting.

If in your process you could make them the least bit snappier, I think it would be better. If you cannot easily do this, print them as they are.

Very truly,

Curator.
